What is a review panel?

Our review panel is made up of a small number of people with dementia who are interested in using their experiences and expertise to shape the work of the Society and other organisations. Joining our review panel is one way you can have your say.

Being a panel member gives you the opportunity to make a difference to the lives of other people affected by dementia. It is also a great way to meet new people, work together, improve your confidence and have fun.

What does the panel do?

The panel will meet once a month for 12 months. We'll select a range of topics we would like to influence, for example the future of the Society, the look of printed materials or local issues in your community affecting people living with dementia.

Your feedback will influence changes to these topics and a summary will be given to the group at the next meeting so you can see how your views have contributed.
